UNITED WE STAND

If an onlooker were to see the 1500 or so Howe students parading to the lower parking lot, he would think, "Oh, look, another Pep assembly." But in essence everyone was walking out to the parking lot to spell out H-O-W-E, a word very significant to us during our high school career.

When flying in the helicopter, the word Howe is easily spelled out with four simple letters. Standing on the ground next to people you may or may not have known, the scene seems to be complete chaos.

Each person that made up the H and the O and W and so on was very important to the structure of the word. Even though each letter seemed to be a cluster of people thrown together, every person had a special, individual job. The same is true within the school. Each student has his or her own personality, ideas, and thoughts that add flair and excitement to H-O-W-E.

Each student, each individual is part of the structure and foundation of Howe High School. When one person is left out, the school is not as strong, the word H-O-W-E is not the same.

SPIRIT WEEK

Howe's spirit surges during spirit week. While the varsity football team was getting ready to face the Arlington Knights at the Homecoming game on Friday, the Student Council was busy planning a week's worth of activities to raise school spirit. The week of September 26-30 was designated as Spirit Week, with each day a celebration of school spirit.

The days were set up as follows: Monday, September 26 was College sweats day; Tuesday, the 27th was shades day; Wednesday the 28th was class colors, (the colors were seniors black, juniors red, sophomores blue and freshman white); Thursday the 29th was twin day, and Friday the 30th of Homecoming Day was school colors and button day.

Besides the days being designated, there were many other activities to join in that week. Some of the other activities were the soccer game, the freshman and reserve football games, the powder puff game, the senior bonfire, the varsity football game on Friday, the dance and parade.

PEP, POMP, AND PARADE PRECEDE HORNET WIN

Howe's Homecoming of 1988 was a blast! The night started with the parade from Ellenberger Park to the football field. In the parade were the Varsity and Junior Varsity cheerleaders, the Howe Hornet Marching Band and the class floats.

The floats were a very big part of the parade. Each individual class showed incredible enthusiasm and pride for their floats. The winning float was done by the class of '91.

HORNETS SLAY KNIGHTS, JAM IN CELEBRATION

A chilly night, twinkling stars, crowded people, and hundreds of smiling faces describes Howe's Homecoming game against Arlington High School.

Before the action started on the field, Howe honored many of their Seniors on the Varsity football team and Golden Gals. Many proud parents showed up to walk their child across the field and let all the people know, "He's mine and I'm proud."

Let the game begin! The Knights had intentions of winning at Howe's Homecoming. But the mighty Hornets had other plans for the Arlington Knights. Things seemed gloomy for the Hornets, but with sure determination the Football players burned the Knights to win 19 to 15.

During the halftime, the Homecoming Queen, Sonya Grooms was crowned.

After the Homecoming victory, students celebrated by jamming to the beats the D.J. played at the Homecoming dance in the gym. Senior Pete Holmes was crowned King of the Homecoming. Students felt enormously proud to be a Hornet that night.

ART

Why does man create? Perhaps he wants to show off his skills. Or maybe it's an attempt to make something that will outlive himself. Or he may be reaching to share an experience with another human being. Whatever the reason, the Art Department offers opportunities for students to sharpen their skills, make something lasting, and hopefully communicate with someone else.

There are many classes offered in the Art Department. There are classes to sculpture, classes to design, or even classes to paint and draw. Students use their skills and talents in these classes for entering into contests or just to create art for their own enjoyment.

Howe Business Department . . . For Your Future

Have you ever walked through the halls and heard the humming and clicking of machines? You probably had entered the Business Department, headed by Ms. McNeish.

There are a variety of classes offered, each of which teaches and perfects business skills.

That writing which resembles hieroglyphics is shorthand, taught by Mrs. Aman. It is a skill widely recommended and used in offices throughout the business world. It's also beneficial for taking notes on any subject.

Howe also offers a great learning experience with on the job training in classes like Cooperative Office Education, headed by Mrs. Perry and Marketing Education, headed by Ms. Burford.

Students receive the chance to earn money, a grade, and experience in an office atmosphere. So take the risk, have fun, and learn along the way.

English Department Offers Creative Outlets

Did you ever have a desire to write a poem, make a speech, or strut across the boards of a stage? The Howe High School English Department offers a variety of outlets to all of these creative energies.

If you have the imagination of Edgar Allen Poe, then you should get involved with Pen Points. But if you prefer to perform your rhetoric, Speech class is just the thing for you.

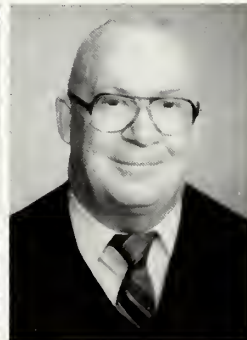

And speaking of performance . . . "Romeo, Romeo, where for art thou, Romeo?" If you feel you have the eloquence and charisma to be a Shakespearean actor, try out for the Senior sponsored plays.

Humanities, Etymology, Science Fiction, Folklore, Journalism, and Yearbook are also fun and unique classes offered through the English Department. Crystal Campbell

Im Oktober 88 lud mich Herr Stanley in den Deutsch Klub des Howe High School ein. Dort hat es mir sehr gut gefallen. Überhaupt scheinen einige Schüler an dieser Schule sehr an anderen Ländern und ihrer Bevölkerung interessiert zu sein.

Besonders gefreut habe ich mich, als ich erfahren habe, dass in Frühling 89 eventuell einige Deutsche an die Howe High School kommen.

Ausserdem gibt es noch einen spanischen, einen französischen und einen konversations Klub.

Den Schülern steht eine grosse Auswahl an fremden Sprachen und damit verbundenen ausser-schulischen Aktivitäten zur Verfügung. Ich war jedenfalls sehr glücklich über das Interesse an meiner amerikanischen Schule. Dafür möchte ich mich bei allen bedanken, besonders bei Madame George und Herrn Stanley.

Counselors Help The Poor Lost Souls

Who will help these poor lost souls? The seniors float from one class to another, almost in a state of oblivion, all wondering, "What's in store for me after high school?"

Is math my strong suit or is it business? Maybe the Army has what I'm looking for. Could an out-of-state college offer me more than one in-state? All of these questions to contemplate while still trying to keep those grades up. What am I going to do?!

Well, if these lost souls are fortunate to stumble upon the Guidance Office, then at last, they can be found. Found by one of the many helpful counselors. These counselors specialize in finding out just what is right for each particular student. Scholarship information, financial aid forms, ROTC programs, apprenticeship and work-study programs, and many other things can be discussed with a caring, knowledgeable counselor.

So if you're feeling lost, need vital information about college or just want somebody to talk to about your problems, then "get found" at the Guidance Office.

Home Economics Cooks Up Recipe For Homemaking

Have you ever walked down the first floor hallway and smelled something really great? Your mouth started to water and your nose wanted to lead you to the Home Economics Department.

When you walk in you will probably hear sewing machines running and lots of people talking. You will be able to find out just what it was that smelled so wonderful out in the hallway.

This is the place where anybody can take a Foods class and learn what's good to eat, how to fix it, and even how to set the table. You can learn other things too!! For example, you could take Child Development to learn how a child develops and how to handle each of those stages as they come along.

You could learn to sew or maybe just to get along better with people.

Come down and check out what goes on in Home Economics. There is always something interesting going on.

INDUSTRIAL TECHNOLOGY

New Classes Highlight The Industrial Technology Department

The Industrial Technology Department seems to have been zapped over the summer. This year when the school year started, the teachers were faced with totally new courses—Graphic Communication Systems, Electronic Communications Systems, Constructing Structures, Construction Planning and Design, Transportation Systems, Energy Systems, Community Planning, Designing and evaluating Transportation Systems, Manufacturing Materials and processes and Product and Manufacturing System Design. If you like to print products, work with computers, make things and work with your hands, then maybe you should consider signing up for one of these courses next year.

Department Head Mr. Wayne Wellington says, "The courses are now more working with your hands. You hardly ever do book work." The teachers are adapting well to the newness of the courses. The department is still working collectively trying to integrate the old with the new curriculum while they are waiting to see how the students like the new courses.

The change was inevitable, with the world of technology shifting so rapidly in the "real world", the school must change to prepare the students for a more realistic situation in the job market. And with the reality of job skills for today's market, Industrial Technology meets the needs of students to prepare them for today's world.

Hypotenuse is on the Loose

It's dangerous going; watch out! There's a hypotenuse out there somewhere and it has a nasty bite. It lives in a strange land where the trees have square roots and their logs a rhythm. So arm yourself with the enchanted book of theorems and the magic slide rule. You've entered the world of mathematics.

Well, it's really not as bizarre as all of that, but it can be just as exciting if you just open your mind. Mathematics holds the key to another sort of magical kingdom. Making things disappear now becomes easy; it's called subtracting. Want it to reappear? AbraCadabra! Just add or multiply. No, I must admit taking a mathematics class will not enable you to saw your mother in half, but it will enable you to stretch your knowledge and imagination in ways you never thought possible.

Give Mr. Brown the chance to teach you all the things that can be accomplished with the aid of a computer. Give Mrs. Freeman the chance to show you how to use formulas as short-cuts to long problems. But most of all, give yourself a chance, and don't sell yourself short in the math department. With a pencil driven with determination, you can be as tall as you want to be.

Media Center Helps Students In A Variety Of Ways

It's your lunch period and you have an essay due tomorrow. You walk into the library, look around, and you see no one. Thousands of books stare at you ominously as you decide what book you should choose. Thinking of a title, author or subject, you look at a book and judge it by its cover. "No, no, not that book." You look further on and you see non fiction, fiction, poetry, biographies and all kinds of software looking back at you.

As you walk your eyes spy something else. "Look at that new Apple computer with a CD rom disk drive!" Wouldn't you like to try that! Now you're going crazy because you can't find a good "short" book. So you do what any other student will do, just grab one and hurry on to your next class.

You make your move to the exit and the security system sounds! Beep! Beep! Beep! Already embarrassed, you almost flip over the exit bar. Now you're really going to get it. A library assistant comes out with Mrs. Leffler, who wants to know why you just didn't check out the book properly and save yourself some "time."

The proper way to do this would be show schedule, sign book card, desensitize book, and be on your way. And finally, check the book out before the report is due, not after. Have a heart, be smart. Kristine Fisher and Nichole Bradberry

Physical Education

Hey, do you want to get physical? Maybe you want to learn how to play basketball or volleyball. Then again if you're interested in running for track, there's a great course at Howe for you. Physical Education class will get you in shape for any sport.

I'll bet you didn't know that 55% of the gym classes are girls and 45% boys. Both men and women are concerned about being in good shape. Mr. Thompson, P.E. instructor, hopes that our nation will be one where people are physically involved in activities and sports.

Howe has a new Physical Education Department Chairman. His name is Mr. Tom Renie from Crispus Attucks. We extend a mighty Hornet welcome to Mr. Renie.

Go ahead and get physical! Always remember that Physical Education is fun and exciting. Most students enjoy the physical exertion after sitting in classes all day and that competitive spirit is roused by many of the activities and games. And the best competition of all — to better your personal best — is always a challenge.

Conditioning

Boys, do you want a physique like Arnold Schwartznegger? Girls, would you love to have the body of Sheila E.? Work that body! Work that body into strong, healthy muscles with help from Conditioning class at Howe.

Keeping in tip top shape for sports or just for the thrill of it is important to boys and girls at Howe. The class has been here for a short amount of time and the popularity of Conditioning is remarkably high. More and more students are concerned about their health which is making Conditioning successful.

The pure satisfaction of pumping iron will assure you you'll get a "Oh boy, you're so fine!" or "Girl, you're so fly!" Work that body . . . Work that body!!!

SCIENCE

Science Department Opens Doors

Let's go. Let's go. Let's go! To where, you ask? To Indiana University in Bloomington.

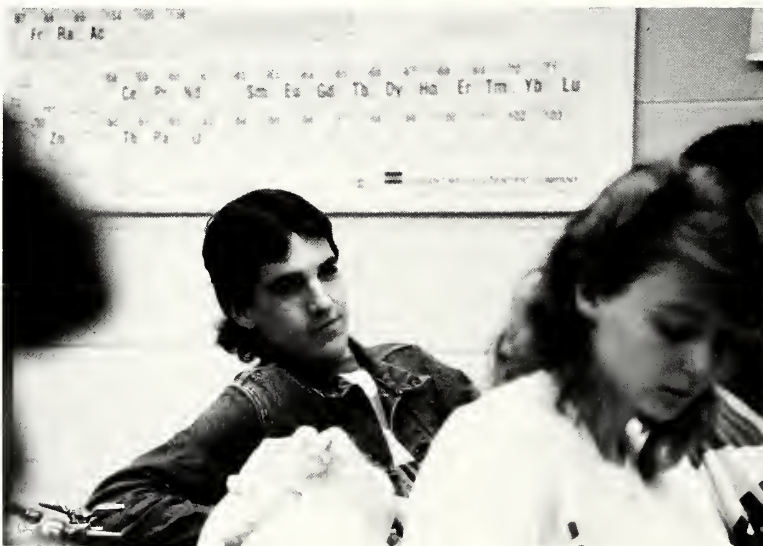

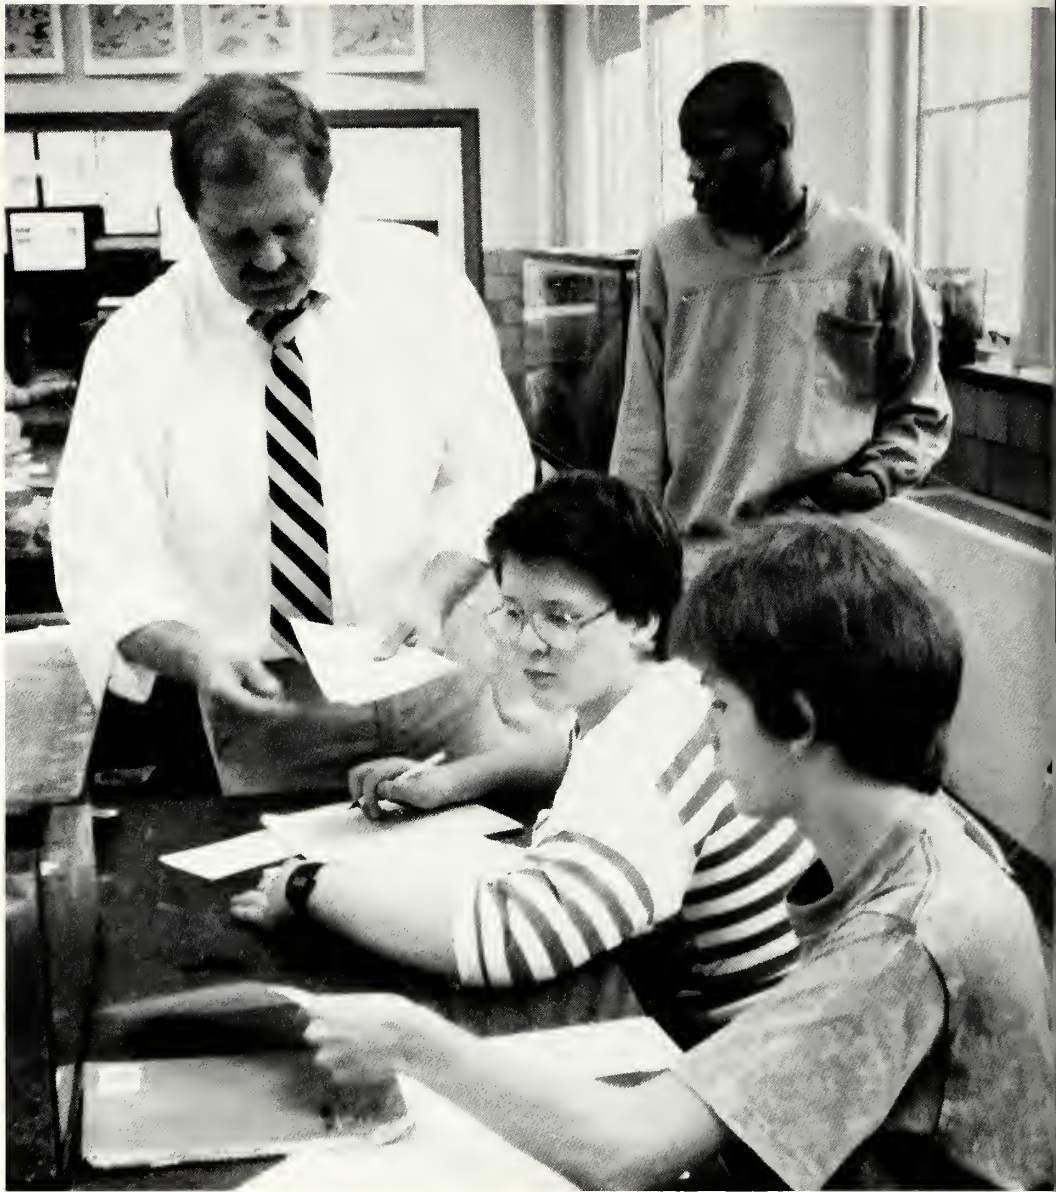

This year about 80 science students got the opportunity to view some very creative projects, all of which were done by I.U. students. The bus departed from Howe about 7:30 and returned that afternoon at 2:30. Refreshments were served as the students looked over the many hand-outs and pamphlets.

Unfortunately, it did rain that day, but that didn't stop Howe's students from zooming around the campus. All in all, the trip was a big success.

Taking a science class gives you more than just the opportunity to take field trips. It gives you the opportunity to explore other galaxies, conduct experiments, investigate the human body, and study wild life.

Physics, Biology and Chemistry may sound hard, but try Marine Biology, Space Science, and Physical Science—it may be a great discovery!

The Worm Turns

I have only one question to ask the science teachers: Why must they insist on dissecting us worms? We do nothing to harm anyone, but still many generations of worms are destroyed every year—for what? Tell me, for what?

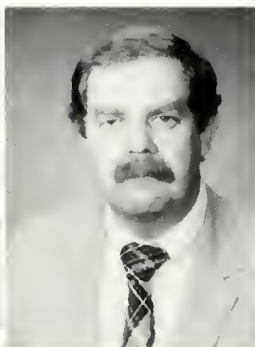

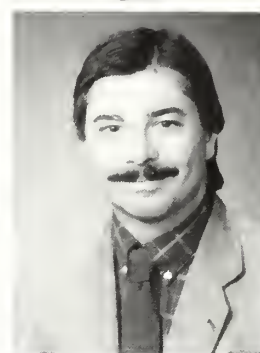

Students say we're ugly and slimy. They even have the nerve to say we smell. Well, wouldn't you smell too if you had been preserved with formaldehyde? Don't you think we know it stinks?

How would you like it if the worms were the superior beings and we preserved and dissected you? It's so sad to see so many of my brothers and sisters go to the cutting board. Now, I'm just waiting my turn.

SOCIAL STUDIES

Mock Elections, Field Trips Highlight Social Studies

Everyone was yelling and screaming trying to get attention to their campaign message. This was the result of the Junior, Senior debate between Nationalist and Federalist. Once they got in their places, Nationalist joked around and made everyone laugh, while the Federalist tried a different approach. They decided to be serious and get down to business. Both made their points, however. Either way, they all had a great time with the mock election in the Social Studies department.

Besides the mock election, many students enjoy the field trips they take in Social Studies. A few of the trips have included London, New York, Washington, D.C., Montreal, and Philadelphia. These field trips have been going on for twelve years, but this is the first year for a trip to Germany, and we are really excited about it. All the trips have been fun and great successes. This one was no exception.

Anti-Drug Film Shot at Howe

Howe was the focal point in an anti-drug film made this summer. It was directed by Glen Roberts and produced by his company, Producers International Corporation.

The movie is divided into four chapters. Each chapter is about one main person's struggle with drugs and the choices they each had to make.

The first is about Bobby Harper, the school's top wrestler. Bobby gets messed up with bad drugs and winds up in a coma in the hospital. Bobby found out that a person can't be neutral about drugs and must make a decision to say "no" before being put under peer pressure.

Hank McCauley is the new boy at Freemen High. He has some experience in wrestling, but his main interest is in playing the guitar. The first people Hank meets in school belong to the drug crowd. Hank had to build his own self-esteem and take pride in the fact that he rejected drugs. He received help from Thatch Martin, who became his good friend. Hank and Thatch set about to create a drug-free school. Hank also found a good looking girl named Becky Ferguson, who was willing to support him and his ideas.

Two of the high school girls, Stacy Harris and Jackie Phiser were in a fashion design contest. Stacy started doing drugs to get creative ideas, but it split the girls apart so they didn't get their project completed.

The last episode is about Todd Wilmont, a high school student and drug pusher. Todd had to learn how destructive illegal drugs were the hard way. He's the one who gave Bobby the bad pot that put him into the hospital.

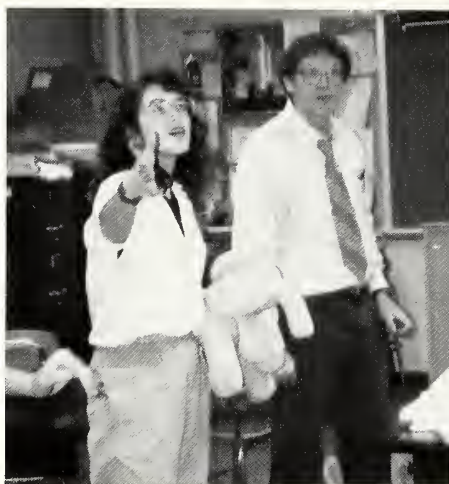

We hope that maybe this story will touch someone's heart and save a life before it's too late. The only way to be is "drug-free." We here at Howe are happy we could contribute to this film and are very proud to be a part of it. Don't wait around to learn a lesson like these kids. Take control of your life.

COOPERATIVE OFFICE EDUCATION is designed to help students get a job in the business field. Students who participate receive two credits per semester and, of course, they get paid for their work. The program enables students to leave school a few classes early to work at their training stations. Students learn about the "business world" first hand.

Does putting together a model airplane or a bird's skeleton sound like something you'd like to do? Well, the Science Club is taking on these challenges and they need all the help they can get. Presently the Science Club consists of five young scientists who are dedicated and work well together. Wouldn't it be exciting to visit the Children's Museum and go on the cave trip? Just don't forget your old pants, because you will have to crawl through the cave.

FRENCH CLUB

The French Club is a group of students who have taken French or are currently enrolled in a French class. The meetings are informal and provide the opportunity to enjoy activities which are seldom used in the classroom. While French is not always spoken, students may learn new vocabulary and culture through games, music or guest speakers. At least once during the semester the club plans a visit to a restaurant where members can speak French without feeling intimidated by grades or criticism. The French Club is a fun way to learn more about France and its language.

QUIZ TEAM

The Quiz Team, also known as the Brain Game Team, is made up of some of the most outstanding and intelligent students at Howe. The team represents our school on the Brain Game, Sundays on Channel 13. The team members practice answering questions and work on the team strategy several times a week. Sponsored by the intellectually apt Mr. Errol Spears and Mr. Ron Finkbiner, the team proves to be a worthwhile workout for many genius minds.

Although membership in the German Club is small, that doesn't keep this energetic group from getting involved in a variety of activities. The German Club travels throughout the area to meet new people at various State Conventions. Members also participate in skits and spelling bees and try their hand at German songs and games. When time permits, they also like to visit different German restaurants and ships around the city. Cafe Heidelberg is definitely a favorite spot for the club.

ACADEMIC CLUB

The thrill, intensity, and satisfaction of competition is one of the most loved things to some people. Competition is a word that best describes the Academic Club. ## SOME MUSICAL NOTES

Many Howe students display their talents as a member of one of the music groups. The Music Department, directed by Thomas Lewis, Mr. Robert Bramblett, Mr. Keith White, and Mrs. Leslie Bartolowitz, consists of the Varsity Singers, Concert Choir, Choralaires, Concert Band, and Orchestra.

Each of these groups practice during a regular class period. Not only is credit received, but those participating in vocal music and instrumental music also obtain a richer knowledge of music and the enjoyment derived from it.

POPS CONCERT

The Howe High School Pops Concert took place on November 18, 1988, in the Howe cafeteria. Among the groups that performed were the Orchestra, the Band, the Varsity Singers, the Concert Choir, and Choralaires.

The audience really seemed to enjoy the show. One highlight was a duet between the Concert Choir and the Orchestra singing, "Didn't We Almost Have It All?" During the performance, they did have it all — all together.

The concert was the first performance of the year for most of the groups, and overall it went very well. Howe's music groups have a lot to look forward to.

No kibbles and bit parts for Jamaine Walker. He's top dog in "Snoopy."

A touch here, a touch there and the transformation is complete! Amy Watt turns Matt McBurnie into Charlie Brown.

The Music Department continued its summer musical tradition with its production of "Snoopy." The show ran for a successful four nights.

The cast members not only did the acting, but also designed the set, controlled the lighting, (which was actually done by Nicole Bradberry and Dale Kinney), sold the tickets, and worked as stage crew. The director of the show was Mr. Tom Lewis and the assistant director was senior, Rhonda Cosby.

The show was about the everyday life of that lovable beagle, Snoopy. In the show he portrayed your regular "Joe Cool," filled in for the Easter Bunny, thought of himself as the "Great Writer," put on three puppet shows and in the end, became the "Big Bow-Wow." The surprise of the show was Woodstock. Throughout the show, Woodstock doesn't say a word, but at the end, she sings in the finale. Charlie Brown doesn't know what his philosophy of life is, while Linus can't understand why the "Great Pumpkin" never comes to his pumpkin patch on Halloween. Jamaine "Snoopy" Walker

SPRING MUSICAL

A smash hit at Howe, Mary Rodgers and Marshall Barer's "Once Upon A Mattress" could justifiably be called one of the most successful musicals of all time here. Yet the comical story has been powerfully captivating the laughter of many audiences. Based on the fairy tale, "Princess and the Pea," this version is quite a legend.

The cast of this year's show spent long evenings and weekends singing, acting, and dancing, which led to an extremely successful show. The dedication of the lead characters really showed through in each performance.

In the cast of characters Clara Winslow played the moat-swimming Princess who was picked to wed the Prince (played by Joseph Bramblett.) Senior Melinda Baker played the naive Lady Larkin who was in love with Sir Harry, the fairest and bravest knight (played by Matt McBurnie.) The insensitive Queen Agrivain was played by Amy Watt. Senior Scott Schoen played the mute King Sextimus, one of the hardest characters to portray. Eric White played the Jester and Senior James Dearth played the Minstrel.

IRVINGTON COMMUNITY SING

On December 14, 1988, Howe's Music Department presented the 51st annual Irvington Community Sing. Featured were the Concert Choir, Varsity Singers, Choralaires, and the mixed and mini choirs.

A highlight of the evening was Mr. Bramblett's rendition of the Monotone Angel, which he performed with the Concert Choir. According to Mr. Bramblett, the annual sing is "The only free concert sponsored by the Music Department and is a gift to the Irvington Community."

THE BAND

When you are a member of the Howe Band, you may be involved in a variety of activities. You could choose to be in Concert Band, Marching Band or the Pep Band.

The Marching Band season begins with Band Camp during the summer. There you learn marching fundamentals, the music for the show, and the drill. Throughout the season, the Marching Band goes to various contests and parades, and performs at some of the football games.

The Pep Band plays at basketball games to add enthusiasm and spirit to the cheering section.

Being involved in the Howe Band means having fun, meeting new friends, and improving a skill.

JROTC

Major Michael Flynn is in charge of the Marksmanship Program here at Howe. It is a very important part of JROTC training because it acts as a motivator and gives participants experience in handling a rifle. All the members of the team had the opportunity to fire air rifles in competition. Actual hands-on training proves to be the best way to learn most things in JROTC.

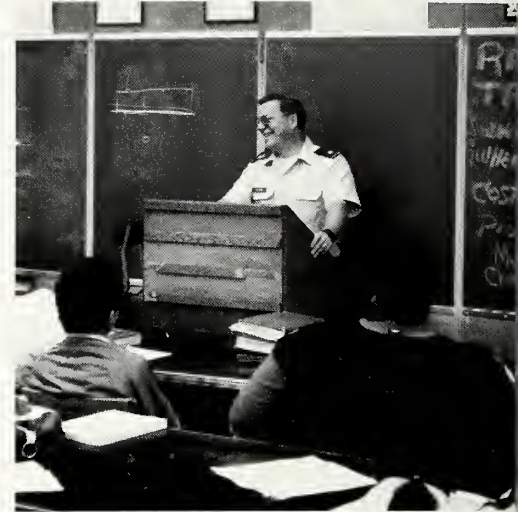

The ultimate goals are to create interest, promote sportsmanship, and provide a sense of responsibility when handling a gun. The training includes firearm safety and improved marksmanship. The Rifle Team is gaining knowledge, receiving unequalled training and discipline, and finding a new interest to fill their spare time. Any way you look at it, the Rifle Team is right on target.

JROTC

Directors of the Junior Reserve Officers' Training Corps are veteran First Class Sergeant Robert Malone and newcomer Major Michael Flynn. The two work well together and have each earned the admiration of their cadets.

JROTC is the complete and thorough training of each cadet. They learn the benefits of leadership, physical fitness, communication abilities, citizenship, and basic knowledge of military skills. Not only does JROTC improve skills, but it also molds traditional values like respect and humility.

JROTC includes female and male Marching Drill Teams, Pellet Rifle Drill Team, Staff Members, and Honor Guard. The various drill teams take the Hornet name to competitions all throughout the state.

New faces, new equipment, and a whole new sense of pride make up Howe's JROTC.

TOWER

In their second year under adviser Vicki Martich, the Tower has had to make some changes because of the graduation of many of last year's staff. The current staff is mostly composed of inexperienced writers, but they are working hard to learn everything about publishing a newspaper.

The past summer, Co-editors Jessica Byrd and William Roberts received scholarships from the Indianapolis Star and News to attend Summer Journalism Workshops at Ball State University.

The Tower staff is working on changes in format and design as well as improvements in writing and reporting. Their goal is to meet the needs of the students at Howe High School.

TRACK AND FIELD

This year we had a young team with a lot of new people. We had to totally rebuild our distance team and replace a lot of sprinters. Coach Dinkens predicted, "The distance team has potential and could place well in the city meet." He was right on target because two of the three distance runners made it to the city finals. By mid-season the girls had acquired the confidence they needed to win.

When running track and participating in field events, you have to have the heart and desire to be the best. When the team realized that we all had the "right stuff", we had a terrific season.

Talk about playing with heart, these young men gave their all and it really shows. The Freshman team's John McCloud placed first in the city for the 100 meter and 200 meter dash. The 400 meter relay team of John McCloud, Carlos McGee, Aidis Thomas, and Derik Johnson also placed first. In the long jump competition, Carlos McGee ran away with the first place title.

The Varsity team pulled a few city titles themselves. Kowalski Martin, Anthony Wise, Anthony Johnson, and James Mure made up the 400 meter relay team and came away with second in the city. Jimmy Porter was also first in the 400 meter dash. Overall, the Varsity Track Team came in eighth in the city meet. Not bad, guys!

WIN, LOSE, OR DRAW

Well, it really doesn't matter what you do as long as you play fair and have fun. That's just the case for Howe's Baseball Team. Each year the team continues to turn weaknesses into strengths, fouls into home-runs, and innings into milestones.

Each individual has his moment to shine, but basically, everyone works hard to make it a team effort. Moments like Kenny Holland jumping three feet into the air as shortstop to pull the ball down are definitely something to remember. But, so is the whole team pitching in to win a game hitting four homers and five runs.

No one knows why each of the players was attracted to the sport, but we're just glad they were. Our only hope is that they continue to represent Howe with pride and dignity.

DEADLY, SOLID, ALMOST PERFECT

Coach Bill Smith made the Howe Boys Golf Team of 1988 another link in the ever-improving chain of golf seasons. The team of returning Juniors not only have never had a losing season together, but they also managed to clinch the title of the IPS Championship. Tony Dean, Jeff Deeter, James Stipanovic, and Jeff Stone, who have played Varsity all four years, hope to claim the title of City Champions.

Other goals include making it to the Regionals, and possibly State. With their season of 12 wins and 3 losses, this elite team of golfers hopes to return next year with an amazing season of 15-0. In overall perspective, the team with their long drives and accurate putts, hopes to have a deadly, solid, and almost perfect season.

TENNIS TEAM CAUSES QUITE A RACKET

Tennis is both a team and individual sport. A player strives to meet his own personal goals, simultaneously trying to obtain the ambitions of their teammates and coach.

This year there were both team and individual goals made. With the help of the team captains, Erika Embry and Jill Fredrickson, many of those goals were fulfilled. Their unmatched attitudes rubbed off on each player. Rose Childs, a Junior Varsity first year player, said, "They inspired us by telling us how much they had improved since they first started playing and to keep working on those weak spots." That became an overall goal: to improve weak spots while still learning the fundamentals of the game. Trisha Tolin

Triple Play Highlights Softball Season

It was incredible! The '88 softball team turned a triple play! Our third baseman caught a line-drive, stepped on third and threw it to second base! It was amazing!!

Said our number one pitcher, Senior Bev Guernsey, "Last year's team had a lot of talent and we could have gone a lot farther in the championship, but we played one of the best teams in the county. We won games that no one thought we would win. This year we will have trouble filling center field and third base and finding two more good bats, but we should have a good season."

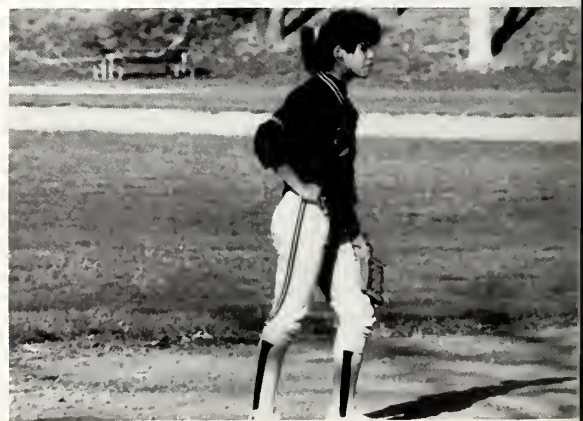

The practices were hard but beneficial. Many valuable friendships came out of it which made our team play together as a team. Hopefully we can fill the spots of the people we lost last year, but either way we can have a good team.

Opposite Page Top: Mike Bell tries to outwit his opponents as Chatard's defense closes in. And if wits fail, there is always pure brawn.

Top Left: "Now where was that hole?" queries Melinda Baker as she sets up the ball for a drive.

Top Right: As that great big tennis ball heads their way, Donald Salyers freezes in space and Brian Fowler tries to hide behind his tennis racket.

Below: Rodney Burns is ready for action as he exclaims, "I'm going to kill them."

Football Team Scores Undefeated Season

This year's football team was a very big surprise to me and I think it was to the whole school as well. All summer long I had heard nothing but bad comments about the team and how we were going to "stink." Well, I think that going 9-0 in the regular season was our way of telling those critics what they could do with their predictions.

I think it was the way we won our first game at Washington that set the tone for the rest of the year. I remember we were down 9-0 at halftime, but we were not worried at all, nor were the coaches. We came out in the second half and did what we had to do and won the game in the last seconds. That win made us sure of one thing, that this team had poise and confidence as well as a love to win.

Our confidence grew stronger and stronger with each week and I know the whole team as well as the coaches are very proud of our accomplishments. Even though we were outsized almost every week, we continued to do whatever it took to win. I feel that this came because of the love of the game and the will to win that I know I had as well as each player on the Varsity Team.

The Seniors on this team had been preparing for a season like this for three years by lifting weights all summer and after school and by sweating it out on J.V. and learning what it takes to be a winner. I give a lot of the credit to our coaches, Harpold, Arvin, Finkbiner, and especially Mr. Smith because of the way they treat the players like adults and give them respect. It makes one want to do anything to win for them.

I also give credit to our fans. Believe me, there's nothing better than to hear a screaming crowd cheering their team on and you just know that these people are backing you up and I think the cheerleaders have a large part in this.

I think this team is one to be remembered for a long time and had a unity like no other team in the past. And I am proud to have been a part of it and to have contributed to our success.

Most people, when they think of golf, think of old men wearing plaid pants and a hat, exchanging timeless stories. The Howe Girls Golf Team is proof that girls play golf also.

The competition is somewhat different than in other sports, because you compete against yourself and in turn against your opponent. You must conquer your own weaknesses and frustrations before you conquer your opponents.

When playing, you are out there with bees, bugs, birds, and flying golf balls. You never know what's going to drop when your ball lands under a tree. The only time we don't play is in the thunder and lightning. No one really likes to be holding a metal golf club in the lightning. One might come back with a crispy, burnt look and a permanent three foot afro.

Kathleen Tiernan

Right: Don't you hate it when that happens? Kathleen Tiernan misses the cup by a mere centimeter.

The Howe Soccer Team under Dave Stewart and Ralph "Dirty Cur" Johnson, managed a 2-9-2 record. However, no such record exists that could accurately reflect all the hard work that went into the fall 1988 season. The players gave 110 percent and showed great improvement.

Next year looks promising, too. Returning will be the two leading scorers, Keith Bruce and David Gut. There is also a strong Freshman class drifting toward the soccer field. The program is thriving and should be stronger than ever next season.

Above Right: Even though the teddy bear is camera shy, Regina Trent and Amber Lane are all smiles.

A lot of hard work, encouragement and spirit went into the team this year. The girls kept each other going with mental and emotional support. Michelle Farmer, Regina Trent, Stephanie Moore, and Amanda Slaughter made up the Medley Relay, and depended on each other to make it a success.

Howe's swimming rival is the Tech Titans. There aren't many city swim teams in Indianapolis, but Howe and Tech are fortunate enough to have about the same number of girls on each team. This year Howe beat Tech and also won their meet against the Indiana Deaf School. The meet took place on Halloween, so the girls took cookies, candy, brownies, and punch to share with the girls from the Deaf School.

All in all, it was a great year! The Girls' Swim Team, with their new coach, Mrs. Combs, made a big splash! Amanda Slaughter

The backbone of the Tennis Team this year was definitely their coach, Mr. Spears. He gave all the players the inspiration and knowledge to go out on the tennis court and play to the best of their ability. If they lost, this taught them humility and gave them a desire to try harder.

The team had an incredible front line with Mike Corey, Jason Pershing, and Dave Johnson. Probably the most unrecognized players are the underclassmen: Jason Davey, Mike Wilson, and James Wright.

Another player that needs mentioning is Dennis Shurfick. He gave that extra effort that woke the team up and got everyone motivated. Thanks to a great coach, and a group of great players, the Tennis Team had a great year!

Cross Country Girls Go the Distance

Doesn't running 2 1/2 miles in the blistering August heat sound like fun to you? Well, maybe not, but when the season begins and you can fly up and down the hills with incredible speed, it all pays off.

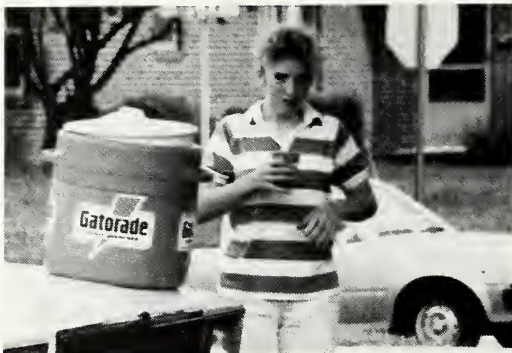

Cross Country is a team sport made up of eight individuals competing against each other and other schools. In the fall of '88, the team started out with only four runners, but doubled in size after school started. Each team member made running Cross Country a rewarding experience as well as a fun one.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

The Freshman Basketball Team started out the season with a bang after a big win over Creston. The team is coached by Martin Sam with help from Mr. Bryant. Norvell Young leads the team with his "all-over-the-court" playing and his unique shooting style. The team also depends upon James Young's stylish passes. Darrell Harvey's dangerous three-pointers, and Greg Zinerman's quick steals and soft jump shots. Also important are Gerald Knight's game strategies and rebounds, Gary Smith's inside ability, Sam Thompson's fateful, last-second shots, Shawn Walker's long range shots, and Derrick McAtee's ability to control the ball. David Butler's rebound and determination and Jermaine McKnight's outside jump shot add to the team also. Each individual added his unique talents and came up with a great Freshman Basketball Team.

LADY HORNETS RISE TO TOP

The Lady Hornets basketball team had a very outstanding year. Finishing only behind the 1983 Final Four Team, they had the second best record ever of a Howe Girls Team, 16-4. They were on a 10 game win streak when the season ended at the Sectionals.

Senior leadership was one reason the Hornets were so competitive. Six out of the twelve were Seniors. Although city and sectional title goals were not achieved, the girls team still has a winning tradition, partially due to Coach Charles Page, who has put in a lot of time, effort, and money for the girls since his arrival last year. He has helped develop the program, and it has become one of the best in the city.

WRESTLING

The Wrestling Team for '88-'89 had an exceptional season. Senior leadership qualities came from Brian Brooks, Matt Williams, and Alvin Holiday. Each team member supported one another, ran, worked out, and practiced hard together. This gave a feeling of unity and friendship throughout the team.

A big part of any wrestler's training is keeping his diet in perspective. The temptation of pigging-out may seem overwhelming, but one has to concentrate on that overall goal. The training is intense and may sometimes seem too sacrificial, but in the end comes a great feeling of self-worth and self-discipline. Mike Williams

GOLDEN GALS

The Golden Gals are a group of exciting, inspiring gals that support the football team. Their main job is to build school spirit and make sure the games go off without a hitch.

Some other fun-filled jobs are running water, taking statistics, cleaning up the stadium, and decorating the locker room before each game. To give the players a nudge every now and then, the gals also hang posters above in-school lockers.

The Golden Gals will never forget those chilly, action-packed Friday nights they cheered the Hornets on to victory. Being a Golden Gal, you become close to a lot of the players and you also acquire a great number of good friends.
Jennifer Hardy

Opposite Page, Bottom: Amy Sommers and Jennifer Hardy, Golden Gals, work hard on stats. Let's see, Amy went out with two of the football players, and Jennifer went out with four.

Left: "My only chance to be in the Hoosier Dome and I get stuck pulling around the water pump," thinks Sharon Paschal. "Oh well, you can't have everything."

Below: Golden Gals relax at Lake Holiday after a strenuous day of eating, swimming, skiing, eating, boating, eating, and general partying. Also, that day they got a chance to eat.

FOOTBALL CHEERLEADERS

Bottom: VARSITY CHEERLEADERS Clockwise: Marian McDowell, Angie Smith, Traci Collins, Tobi Oliphant, Katrina Owens, Robyn Lucas, Audra West

This football season was especially fun for us — the cheerleaders. So many different things took place. For starters, our football team was undefeated. It's easier to cheer for a winning team than a losing one.

We also got the opportunity to cheer in the Hoosier Dome during the Jamboree. The Pep Session sparked a lot of spirit and enthusiasm from all the students. Other highlights were Homecoming and the Parade.

Cheerleading is not all fun and games, though. It requires a great deal of time and effort, which we all gave. Ms. Dillenger kept things exciting by letting us get together and work at her house.

The season was great and I wouldn't have changed a cheer, a chant, or even a single jump.

Mat Maids G.L.O.W. at Howe

Sitting around talking is definitely not the job of the Mat Maids. They are kept too busy with an enormous amount of other responsibilities. Mat Maids put down the mats, keep score, run errands for the coaches, and clean up after the meets. It's not the most glamorous job, but Howe is fortunate enough to have the most dedicated, hard-working girls around.

When Howe hosts a tournament, the Mat Maids arrive at 6:00 a.m. to insure everything will be ready for the meet. The Regionals, Sectionals, and the City Tournament all take place at Howe. The girls are responsible for copying brackets, throwing towels to show when the time is up, and getting the locker room ready. The Mat Maids are also important at the away games because they cheer the guys on to victory.

In school, the girls make posters to announce the wrestling meets to get support from all the students. Each Mat Maid also picks a secret wrestler to do special things for. They might choose to send a special card, make huge posters to hang in the halls, or make some delicious baked goods. Our busy, beautiful, creative Mat Maids are Number One!

Kim Berwanger

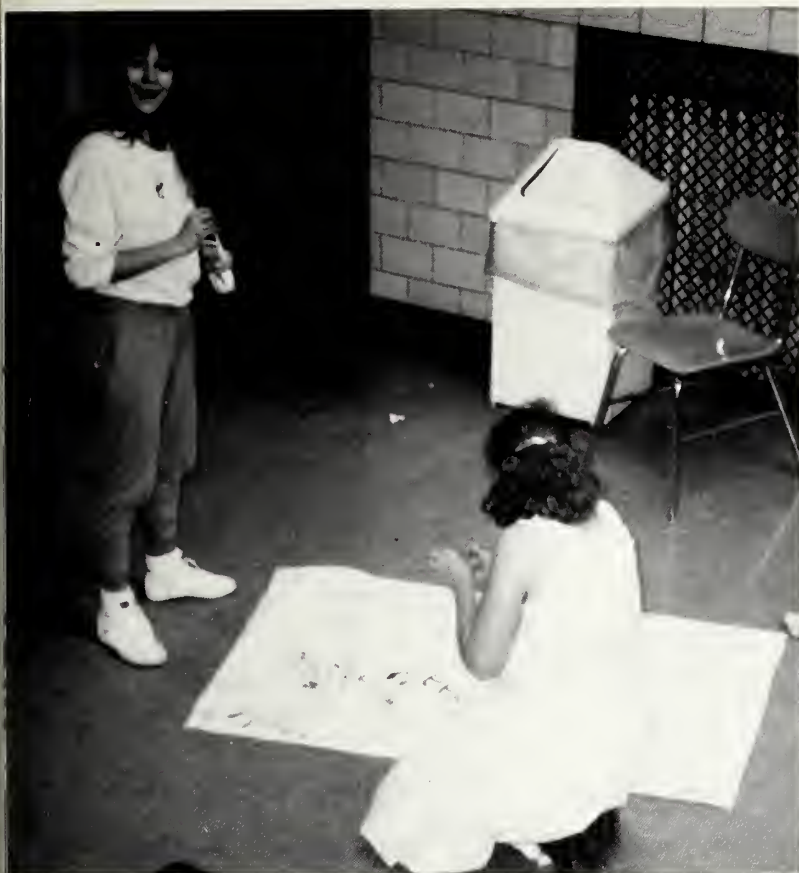

Above: Bowing their heads in silent prayer? No, just thinking about all the exciting things Mrs. Harpold has planned for the Mat Maids.

Center: Wrestling holds the attention of people of all ages as the crowd is made up of parents, students, Mat Maids, and just plain fans of the sport.

Right: "You must be kidding if you think I'm going out with him," sneers Amanda Slaughter as she gossips with a fellow Mat Maid behind her.

Left: "Hey, this was supposed to be a surprise," says Rosie Herald, as they hurriedly hang up a poster for their secret wrestler.

Below: "All of these statistics and timings are getting me confused. I think I'll just stick to cheering," imagines Christy Cantrell.

Hornets Spirit

"Let's go, T.C.H. . . . Hornets are #1," is what you may hear chanted from the B-Ball cheerleaders during a game.

The cheerleaders play an important part during basketball season because they must keep their crowd fired up from the beginning until the end of the game. And this season they have done just that!

The Varsity and Reserve cheerleaders get that extra "get up and go" from the Howe basemen.

Overall the cheerleaders have had a great season. All of the squads are working together as one and are looking forward to more V-I-C-T-O-R-Y's.

A Farewell Message

The year of distinction is finally here. We're rolling out the eighties and bringing in the nineties with class and style. All of the graduating Seniors will say farewell to all things dealing with high school except memories, of course. Our memories will stay with us for many years to come. Physically we leave, but mentally we remain with fond remembrances of teachers, friends, fun times, sports events and dances. Our Senior year brought us our best friends, our greatest trials and tribulations, and most of all, our chance to call everyone else "underclassmen!" Well, everyone should know that the class of 1989 is not bold, but we are the best that ever attended the "Brown and Gold."

Crystal Campbell and Lisa Zoeller

The house lights dim. The stage lights go up, a trumpet fanfare sounds, and Theseus rushes to his bride to be. Thus started Shakespeare's A MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM, Howe's Senior sponsored play '88.

Actually, it all started two months before, with the tryouts, casting, and soul-searching typical to any dramatic production.

A grand selection of actors and actresses was combined to form a production that was fun for both the audience and the performers. Four seniors were cast in major roles: Jamaine Walker as the Duke of Athens; Melinda Baker as Titania, Queen of the Fairies; Billy Johnson in a double role as Peter Quince, leader of the acting crew and as Oberon, King of the Fairies; and Scott Schoen as the conceited, over-zealous Nick Bottom, weaver and actor extraordinaire.

Rehearsals were full of laughter, stupidity, and general rambunctiousness. However, director Greg Shelton was occasionally able to subdue the mob and an actually presentable drama was pieced together.

All in all, this play was a total success. The only conceivable question afterward was, "Now, how do we top this?" Scott Schoen

Above: Oberon (Billy Johnson) laughs sadistically at the prank he is to play on Titania. "Wake when some vile thing is near."

Right: Theseus (Jamaine Walker) woos Hippolyta (Shelley Oberholtzer).

Far Right: Bottom (Scott Schoen) is loved by Titania, Queen of the Fairies (Melinda Baker) while the fairy court attend to his every whim. "Me thinks I have a great desire to a bottle of hay."

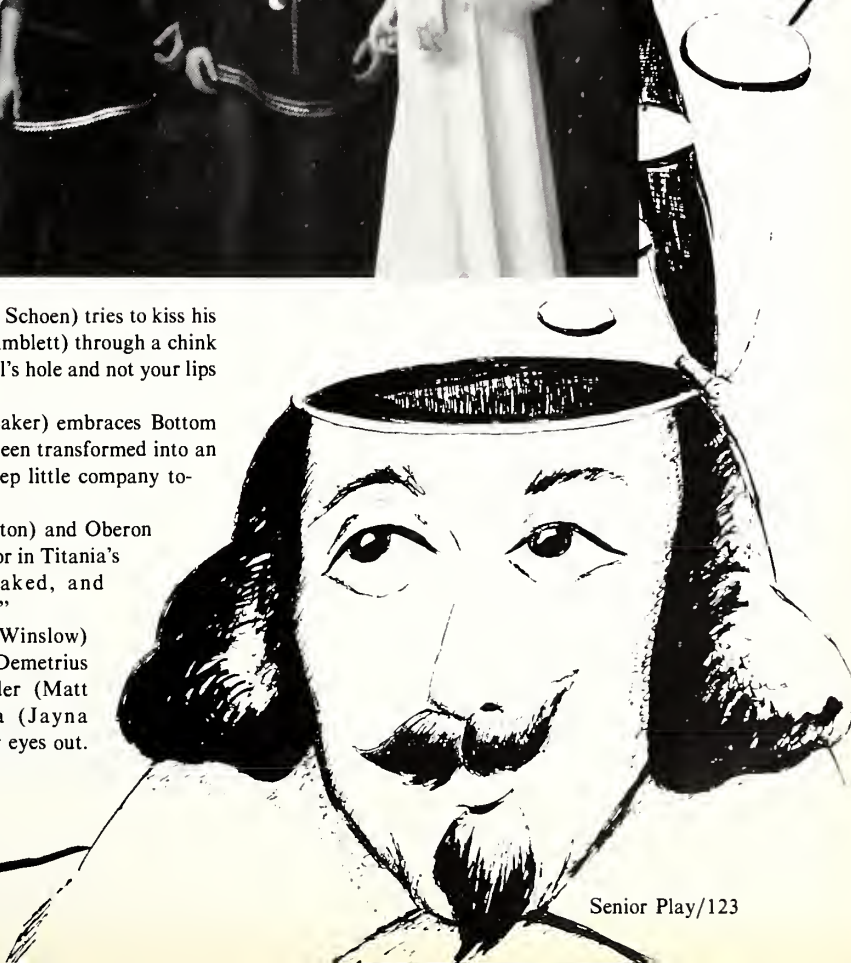

Top Left: Pyramus (Scott Schoen) tries to kiss his lovely Thisby (Joseph Bramblett) through a chink in the wall. "I kiss the wall's hole and not your lips at all."

Left: Titania (Melinda Baker) embraces Bottom (Scott Schoen) who has been transformed into an ass. "Reason and love keep little company together nowadays."

Top: Puck (Michael Shelton) and Oberon (Billy Johnson) find humor in Titania's new love. "Titania waked, and straightway loved an ass."

Student Council Committed to Diversification

The projects Student Council sponsors are as diverse as the people who make it a success. Members represent virtually every type of student in school. We come together to be as effective as possible.

Student Council is committed to listening to concerns and suggestions and acting upon them. Homecoming, candy grams, and dances are just a few of the activities we sponsor.

Besides just sponsoring student activities, Student Council makes an effort to be of service to the community. Our lighting of the Luminaria in Irvington during the Christmas season, the canned food drive, and our visits to the nursing home are some of the ways we reach out to the community.

We are the only I.P.S. school to participate actively in local, state, regional, and national student leadership activities. Because of our achievements, Howe's Student Council will be named an Honor Council for the fourth consecutive year. This award sights our council as one of the most outstanding in the United States.

The New Hilltopper Staff Breathes New Life into Yearbook

Howe's mascot, T.C. Hornet, is bouncing through the halls on the first floor. Just then, he notices a burst of sunshine spurring out from the yearbook room. Curiously, he peeks through the door. Some mysterious force pulls him right into the room. "Gosh, this couldn't be real! There's Disney posters everywhere and the room looks bright and cheerful!," thinks T.C.

This year the Hilltopper has a new yearbook advisor, Mr. Shelton. He is responsible for all the changes in the decor of the room and the change of attitude of all the staff. Not only have Mr. Shelton and the 1988/89 Hilltopper Staff finished the 87/88 yearbook, but they completed the 88/89 yearbook on time! Mr. Shelton has managed to meet deadlines, keep spirits up, and turn out two yearbooks in one year. Every page of this spectacular book is proof of the hard work and dedication that went into it. Crystal Campbell and Lisa Zoeller

Above: Denise Price feels she has underclassmen in the palm of her hand as she prepares a photograph for placement.

Top: Jennifer Hardy designs a layout for Golden Gals on pages 102 and 103, while June Lamitina offers helpful hints.

UNITED WE STAND

*United We Stand, Howe Hornets Forever
Never letting go, holding tight, hand-in-hand
Individual people represent each piece
Together a huge puzzle that will never cease.
Everyone is needed, or it's incomplete
Developing as one is quite a feat.*

*We stand together, united and proud
Equality for all is what we have vowed*

*Separate as a single grain of sand
Together, a beach, to cover the land
And each is unique as a glistening snowflake
Naked we melt and turn to a lake
Drowning ourselves in love and friendship
— United We Stand.*
